Newsmax, Funded by CIA & Qatari Gov, Ratings Surpass Fox News Ratings for the First Time

The Republican schism is not just a projection of fantasies by people like who despise conservative politics. It is a phenomenon variable by ratings. Newsmax TV was a little-known news outlet until it propelled to fame during their coverage of the 2020 and the refusal to declare Biden the winner, weeks after every other outlet, including Fox News, had.

> "Greg Kelly Reports," which airs 7-8 p.m. EST, beat "The Story with Martha McCallum" in the 25- to 54-year-old audience demographic. Kelly drew an average of 229,000 viewers for the hour while McCallum pulled in 203,000, CNN reported.

The 25-54 demographic is the most coveted in TV news and it is not surprising that Newsmax is gaining viewers as Fox News loses them. The conservative movement, especially in the era of Trump, is a cult. And like any cult, the main objective is to push away any idea, personality or entity which conflicts with the cult narrative, in this case the rigged 2020 election against Trump. But as with all cults, the truth is not only always the opposite of the narrative, but the narrative is usually built upon shady grounds.

When Newsmax was founded in 1998, the family of CIA director William J. Casey was one of the most influential investors; since 2018, the Qatari government has also held a huge stake in the company. This has caused integrity issues in their reporting, namely a huge slant in coverage against the United Arab Emirates and Iran, and a softening tone towards Qatar. This is quite bizarre for a conservative outlet, as Qatar has supported in the past the creation of a Palestinian state. This reminds me of the Tea Party movement receiving funding from the Koch brothers, whose patriarch made a fortune selling oil to Stalin's USSR. What is clear is not the nature of the Newsmax narrative, which can be contradictory from minute to minute, but that it is foreign propaganda funded by the very deep state Trumpsters claim to hate. The irony is so thick you can cut it with a knife.
